

Bradford College

Andy Welsh became Chief Executive Officer of the Bradford College Group in August 2014. He took up the position after working for Bradford College for more than ten years as Chief Operating Officer, responsible for building services, facilities, environmental issues, human resources, technology and library services.

Andy's background makes him ideally suited to his diverse role: armed with a Degree in Chemistry, he began his career within Personnel at Leeds City Council before joining Joseph Priestley College, where he was given the responsibility of managing an Adult Education Centre. The role evolved and Andy was quickly promoted to Director of HR, later becoming Director of Resources. Whilst working, he also completed an MBA at the University of Leeds.
