

Selby College – Effective HR

Course title	Personal Development Planning
Courses description and target audience	This programme uses a reflective approach linked to personalised coaching and supporting of candidates seeking to add structure to career planning. Candidates will be guided to consider their baselines and to investigate opportunities for career development. This platform then develops good practice principles in assembling short, medium and long-term career plans linked to development opportunities
Delivery method and duration	The programme is delivered via blended learning with learners assigned a coach to support, monitor and assess learners against a range of remote exercises. The programme equates to 36-72 hours of learning
Course start dates	Course is roll-on roll off with enrolment from late January 2021