

Ian Billyard has been Principal of Leeds College of Building since 2004. It is the only further education college specialising in construction and the built environment in the UK. He is the Chair of WYCC and the Leeds City Region Skills Network.

Ian's background is that of a building surveyor but started his life as a mining surveyor, with English China Clays in the South West of England. He has also worked with a Local Authority and several contracting companies. Ian is currently a member of the Construction Skills Board and is involved in a number of groups and organisations both nationally and regionally. His education career started in the North East at Darlington College of Technology and progressed to Head of Department at Bolton College and Dean of Faculty at Boston College before joining Leeds College of Building as Vice Principal in 1996.